PARSHAT BESHALLACH

This Shabbat is known as Shabbat Shirah because the highlight of the Torah Reading is the Song at the Sea. This song Moshe and the Jewish people sang in gratitude for the destruction of the Egyptian pursuers.

The Talmud (Pesachim 1180) relates that at the Sea of Reeds, the Jewish people thought that just as they had emerged on one bank of the sea, the Egyptian pursuers emerged safely on the other bank. If so, there existed a danger that they might resume their pursuit of Israel. G-d then commands the sea to cast the bodies of the drowned Egyptians onto the bank so that the Jews could see them. Not only did this calm their fears, but the Jews were also able to take the gold and silver ornaments that were worn by the Egyptians.
