Roy and Stephanie Kirsh, on the birth of a son, Theodore (Zev Tzvi), to the grandparents, Gerry and Lois Kirsh, and Cindi and Sid Itzkowitz.

Rabbi Benjamin and Avital Goldschmidt on the marriage of Avital's sister, Neta Chizhik, to Jonathan Krause, and to the parents, Dr. Dmitry and Elina Chizhik and Benyomin Krinsky and Zahava Krause.

Andrew Schwimmer on the anniversary of his bar mitzvah, to his wife Pamela, and to the parents Martin and Lois Schwimmer, and Eilan and Lilly Ezrachie.

PARSHAT VAYEISHEV

They hated him and could not speak to him peacefully (Gen. 37:4)

In Leviticus, the Torah warns us, "You shall not hate your brother in your heart: You must rebuke your fellow." Rabbi Jonathan Eybschutz (Prague, 1695-1764), makes a psychologically trenchant point. When one person harbors ill will toward his fellow and remains silent about it, the bad feelings tend to amass and fester. Conversely, expressing those feelings can lead to conversation and understanding between the two parties. Thus we are told not to hate others "in our hearts" i.e. internally, but rather to speak with the person toward whom we have those feelings. Ultimately this might lead to a mutually agreeable resolution. Joseph's brothers resented him for being the favorite son, but they did not want to confront their father about this. Had they but told Joseph the reason for their animosity, a painful episode in the life of Jacob could have been avoided.

Memorial Kaddish Dedicated in Memory of

Mel Nadell, beloved husband of Elaine Nadell, dear father of Susan (Larry) Osman, class of 1987, Jason (Roni) Nadell, class of 1991, grandfather of Jake and Remi.

May his soul be bound up in the bond of Eternal Life.
